

Chapter 12: Geography and History of Asia

Internet Activity

In this lesson, you will learn about the geography of Asia to master the location of countries, bodies of water, and physical features of Asia.

Part 1: Learn

- 1) Visit the Nations Online Project’s Map of Asia website (<https://bit.ly/asiainfo1>). Here, you will find a complete list of the countries in Asia as well as a map of the continent.
- 2) Begin by scrolling down to the region “South Asia”. Click on India to open its page. You may click on the other countries to learn facts about them, as well.
- 3) Using the India webpage, fill out the chart below with information on countries with which it shares a border, bodies of water the country contains or borders like lakes, oceans, rivers, and seas, and other geographic features of the country, like deserts or mountains. (Hint: Most boxes will contain more than one item!)
- 4) Next, return to the previous page and scroll to “East Asia”. Repeat the procedure for China, Japan, South Korea, and North Korea.
- 5) Return once more to the starting page, scroll to “Southeast Asia”, and repeat the activity for Vietnam and Indonesia.
- 6) Once completed, use the map at the top of the starting page to verify and visualize the information you gathered.

Name of Country	Border countries	Bodies of Water	Other geographic features
India		Indian Ocean,	Himalayan Mountains,
China			Taklimakan desert, Gobi Desert,
Japan	none
South Korea			Korean peninsula,
North Korea			Korean peninsula,
